

Cummins UK Pension Plan

Pension news

for pensioner members

March 2020

Welcome

It's a pleasure to welcome you to the latest issue of Pension news, the newsletter for pensioners of the Cummins UK Pension Plan. It brings you the latest updates from the Plan, along with news about pensions and retirement, which we hope you'll find useful.

As you see, we have a new look and format for Pension news, which we hope you'll like. During the year, the Trustee's communications sub-committee (CSC) has been reviewing our Plan communications, including our new pensions website, which launched in January. If you haven't seen it yet, don't forget to take a look – there's more information on page 4. Thinking about our communications, the CSC is ever mindful of our impact on the environment and you can read more about this on pages 6 and 7.

It's been another busy year and as you know, the Trustee appointed Premier as the new administrator for the Plan from January 2020. I'm pleased to report that the transition from Capita to Premier has been completed smoothly, thanks to the hard work of the CBS pensions team and the team at Premier, whom we welcome on page 4.

There are some changes on the Trustee board to tell you about. Edward Kelly, a Company-nominated Trustee (CNT), and Stephen Williams, a member-nominated Trustee (MNT), both retired from the board at the end of 2019, and we thank them for their hard work and valued service to the Plan. We welcome new Trustee, Lisa Thornton, who was nominated by the Company and joined the board in June 2019. You can get to know Lisa in our Q&A with her on pages 13 to 15.

Last autumn, we invited applications from members to stand for selection as MNTs. We were delighted to receive such an excellent response, in which every applicant was a strong candidate. Thank you to everyone who applied. We welcome our two new MNTs, Martin Bruniges and Natalie Morton, who joined the Trustee board in March.

Finally, I hope you enjoy reading this issue of Pension news and find it useful and informative. If you have any comments or would like to see a topic covered in a future issue, please get in touch using the contact details on the back page.

In January 2020, we launched a new pensions website for the Plan. It includes everything you need to know about the Plan and how it works, as well as providing lots of information about pensions in general.

We publish the latest news from the Plan here, so you can keep up to date with anything that might affect you or your pension.

What can I do online?

Log into the member portal via Manage my pension, where you can:

- view and update your personal details
- update your nomination form
- view your pension payslips and P60 (new for March 2020)
- download the form to update your bank account details.

Equality in pensions

In the last issue of Pension news, we reported on a High Court ruling about Guaranteed Minimum Pensions, commonly called GMPs. GMPs were accrued at different rates for men and women and were payable at different ages, reflecting the different State pension age for men and women at the time. It could affect you if you were an active member of the Plan between 17 May 1990 and 5 April 1997.

As a result of the ruling, GMPs must now be equalised. The Trustee is working with its advisers on the complex process of adjusting benefits, which will take time to complete. While no one's benefits will decrease, some men and women may see a small increase in their benefits. However, members should note that the amounts are likely to be modest. You don't need to do anything as we will contact anyone who is affected in due course.

Cummins rewards

Don't forget that as a Cummins pensioner, you can use Cummins Rewards, which gives you access to fantastic discounts, savings and cashback offers from a wide range of retailers. It helps you save money on everyday essentials like groceries and utilities, as well as insurance and mobile phones.

You can log into Cummins Rewards at www.cumminsrewards4retirees.co.uk and start saving money on the goods and services you buy.

Environmentally friendly communications

Keeping all our members properly informed about their benefits is important. In doing so, we're committed to making sure that our impact on the environment is as low as possible.

Our printed communications

Print has always been a staple of any communications but nowadays, people are concerned about the sustainability of paper products and the use of full colour. You might, then, be interested to know that print is not necessarily the 'bad guy' that it's made out to be. The print industry has made significant developments which mean that print practices have only a fraction of the impact on the environment that they once did.

For our Plan communications, our printers use only vegetable-based inks rather than conventional mineral oil-based inks. They also use FSC® accredited recycled paper and reusable aluminium plates. You might think that the use of full colour is wasteful, however, full colour printing actually uses significantly fewer chemicals and solvents in the set-up and press cleaning than one or two-colour printing. Full colour has the added bonus of making our communications more engaging – and therefore more effective.

Did you know?

When we mail our newsletters and other Plan communications, we also use recyclable envelopes. And don't forget, you can do your bit too and make sure you recycle any Plan communications once you have finished with them.

Our digital communications

Moving everything online may seem like a good alternative to print. However, the use of the internet also comes with an environmental cost, as it relies on vast physical resources which means that every website has a carbon footprint. Did you know, for example, that opening a standard webpage can use as much energy as boiling a kettle?

Our new pensions website has been designed to be cleaner and more efficient. Careful attention has been paid to everything from the content, copywriting and design through to our members' pathway to find the information they need. Streamlining the navigation and search processes and optimising the website so it works on all types of devices (PCs, laptops, tablets and phones) all contribute to a modern, cleaner standard.

Did you know?

An average website can produce around 4.61g of CO₂ per page view. You'll be pleased to hear that our new pensions website has been tested and found to produce just 0.27g of CO₂ per page, making it cleaner than most other websites.

The CSC continues to work on our Plan communications to ensure that the information we provide to you is as engaging and useful as possible, while keeping in mind our impact on the environment.

Company news

It was a momentous year for Cummins in 2019, when the Company celebrated its 100th anniversary. Here is a summary of just some of the events that marked this special occasion.

6 February celebrations

Employees came together to celebrate Cummins' 100th anniversary, as sites across Europe took the time to enjoy some birthday cake, watch the 100-year anniversary video and kick start the Innovation Challenge, encouraging our employees to think creatively and submit their innovative ideas. The challenge resulted in more than 950 ideas from seven different regions and included Cummins-sponsored forests, a green street air cleaning system integrated with street lighting, and a mobile app for a healthier and safer workplace.

Each site put their own stamp on the occasion with a variety of creative birthday bakes. Daventry had two giant creations – a K38 cake representing one of their earliest products, and a K50 genset cake, one of the factory's most recent product offerings.

Rugby celebrated with a filter-shaped cake, and we saw an array of beautifully decorated cupcakes and Cummins-branded cakes across the region.

Some sites even celebrated around the clock, with Huddersfield hosting no fewer than 19 celebration sessions, capturing all shifts.

Out in Norway, the Cummins team took the chance to recognise a combined 100 years of service as they braved the snow for a group photograph.

Summertime celebrations

In Daventry, more than 4,000 people were undeterred by the British weather and came to mark the anniversary. They were met at the entrance of the plant by vintage buses which took them past an enormous Volvo mining truck and into the plant, where they were treated to tours and musical treats from the Daventry Brass Band, a jazz band, a classical pianist and a DJ throughout the day. There was also an employee car show, an engine display, American trucks and a steam fair, as well as family fun in the form of bouncy castles, face painting and sports games.

At the Huddersfield Turbo Technologies site, around 3,500 Cummins employees, their families and Company retirees, along with Turbo Ted, the site mascot, gathered to celebrate. The site open day provided colleagues with the opportunity to show their friends and family around the facility through guided manufacturing and engineering tours. They got a real insight into how some Cummins products are used through close-ups of a range of vehicles including an AEC Routemaster bus, a Dodge Ram pick-up truck and a Bedford Green Goddess fire engine.

Over in Spain, colleagues in Madrid took the strapline for our centenary celebrations to another level and 'challenged the impossible' in their very own Escape Room. In teams, they worked together to solve complicated puzzles, open locks, and then finally release an encrypted message, which read, 'The most important thing in Cummins is us: the team!'

Wellbeing matters

Occupied by around 7.7 billion people, planet Earth is a busy place. As human beings, we depend on each other to survive.

Even before we're born, we're programmed to seek out other people – a baby learns to recognise its mother's voice in the womb and can recognise her face within a week of being born. People are essentially social creatures – it's how we work.

It's no surprise, therefore, that when we feel lonely, for whatever reason, it has a serious effect on our wellbeing. People of any age can experience loneliness and feel isolated. Some people find that having retired, they miss the company and routine of going to work. For many older people, especially following a bereavement, illness or disability, they find themselves living alone, possibly for the first time ever.

The lonely truth

- 3.6 million older people in the UK live alone, of whom 2 million are aged over 75
- 1.9 million older people often feel ignored or invisible
- 0.5 million older people go at least five or six days a week without seeing or speaking to anyone at all
- loneliness is as harmful to our health as smoking 15 cigarettes a day, and more damaging than obesity.

(Figures published by Age UK)

A physical threat

Loneliness often has a negative impact on sleep, learning and memory. Disrupted sleep patterns can have a significant effect on the ability to function in everyday life. Chronic loneliness is a serious, life-threatening health condition, which has been associated with an increased risk of physical illness such as stroke and cardiovascular disease.

Finding new connections

Loneliness is a very personal experience which often prevents people who need help from asking for it. However, there are a number of things you can do to help combat loneliness and making new connections can be mutually rewarding.

- Get involved with a friendship centre in your local area.
- Contact a telephone befriending service – run by Age UK, Call in Time is a free telephone friendship service that matches like-minded people aged 60 and over.
- Get a pet – the company of a dog or a cat is very comforting. Having a dog also has the added health benefit of daily walks.
- Join an online forum such as Gransnet.
- Be as active as possible – join a keep fit class or a local walking group.
- Join a book group, quiz team or craft group – meeting regularly for a chat and a shared interest is a great way to meet new people.
- Volunteer – use your skills to help others, e.g. be a school governor, help in a charity shop or at your local food bank, become a National Trust property guide, do conservation work in a community garden, tutor students with reading difficulties, etc.
- Learn something new – the University of the Third Age offers a nationwide network of learning groups – there are no exams or homework, just regular study groups learning something for fun.

Meet the new Trustee

We welcome new Company-nominated Trustee, Lisa Thornton, who joined the Trustee board in June 2019. Lisa is Director of Sales Operations & SBP, EMEA.

How did you become a Trustee?

When Nichola Moore became Chair of the Trustee board at the beginning of 2019, that created an opening for a Company-nominated Trustee. A colleague who was already on the board asked if I would be interested and, after some reading up on what being a Trustee meant and being interviewed by people currently involved in the Trustee board and the Plan, I'm happy to say I was approved to become a Trustee.

What is your greatest work achievement so far?

I have worked for Cummins for 25 years so that's a hard question to answer. I'm particularly proud of the Cummins Emission Solutions Euro VI program I was leader for – the whole team overcame some major challenges along the way to launch a successful aftertreatment product behind the 4.5L and 6.7L engines in 2014. It wasn't an easy time, but everyone worked together and found the right solutions.

What have you been working on with the Trustee board since you joined?

One of the main things you need to do when you first become a Trustee is to complete the trustee toolkit training within the first six months, so there was a lot of learning there, along with getting familiar with all the details and documents related to the Plan. I've attended three Trustee board meetings so far, and that has included topics such as monitoring the recent change of our administrator from Capita to Premier, and I've also shared my experience with people who approached me regarding the recent member nominated Trustee openings.

What interests you about pensions?

I like variety in anything I do, and Pensions is no different. Investment options are obviously a key element, but governance is also important and keeping up to date with developments and changes is vital to ensure that we are doing all that we need to as a Trustee Board. It's interesting how pensions topics have evolved over time in line with the changing world we live in.

What do you enjoy most about being a Trustee?

Through all of my career, I have enjoyed being able to make a difference and help people, whether that be with specific work issues or developing skills etc. and I see the Trustee role as an alternative way to help people and I'm really enjoying that opportunity. As an added bonus, I get to work with the other Trustees who all have diverse backgrounds and skills and that gives me an opportunity to learn and develop too.

What do you think is the greatest challenge for workplace pension schemes?

I think a big challenge is developing knowledge and getting engagement across the whole spectrum of members and potential members, as pensions is not a topic many people feel comfortable or are familiar with, and planning for retirement can be something which is not really considered until later in working life. It needs to be as easy and interesting as possible for people to learn more about pensions and think about what is best for them, so they can make good decisions at the right time.

Which person, dead, alive or imaginary, would you like to have dinner with and why?

Quite topical right now, it would be Prince Harry – it would be interesting to hear more on how and why he made the recent decision to step down as a senior royal, as that can't have been an easy thing to do.

What was your dream job as a child?

A librarian, probably because I thought you would be able to read books all day!

What do you like to do in your spare time?

My partner Justin and I have two boxer dogs, so we like getting out in the countryside for walks and it's always a bonus if we find a nice dog-friendly pub which sells a good real ale. I also enjoy reading, when I get the chance, and attempting to keep fit.

What are your plans around your own retirement?

It's a while off yet, but just to be able to spend time doing things I enjoy. I'm looking forward to being able to go on holiday more and visit new places.

Summary funding statement

This statement explains the funding that supports your benefits in the DB section of the Cummins UK Pension Plan. It tells you about the longer-term outlook for the DB section and the substantial financial support the Company provides.

Understanding this statement

Every three years, the Plan actuary carries out a full valuation of the Plan, comparing the value of the assets with the amount of money that will be needed to provide members' benefits (the Plan's liabilities). The percentage of the liabilities that can be covered by the assets is known as the funding level. If this is more than 100%, there is said to be a surplus, if it's less than 100%, the Plan has a shortfall. In between valuations, the actuary provides the Trustee with annual updates.

The latest position

The most recent valuation of the Plan looked at the position as at 1 January 2018, when the Plan had a surplus of £73.6 million – or a funding level of 105%. Since then, the Plan actuary has provided the Trustee with an update of the position as at 1 January 2019, as shown in the table.

	Valuation 1 January 2018	Update 1 January 2019
Assets*	£1,450.6 million	£1,395.8 million
Amount needed to provide benefits	£1,377.0 million	£1,346.6 million
Surplus	£73.6 million	£49.2 million
Funding level	105%	104%

*not including additional voluntary contributions or DC section assets.

During the year to January 2019, the Plan's surplus reduced from £73.6 million to £49.2 million as a result of negative returns on the Plan's investments. The next actuarial valuation is due as at 1 January 2021.

How is my pension paid for?

The Company (Cummins Ltd and the other participating companies in the UK) and active members of the DB section pay regular contributions into the Plan. These are held in a common fund (rather than in individual accounts for each member) from which the Trustee pays pensions to members when they are due.

How is the amount the Plan needs worked out?

Using the information from the valuation, the Trustee comes to an agreement with the Company on the level of contributions that need to be paid to help ensure that the Plan has enough funds to pay members' benefits now and in the future. As the Plan currently has a surplus, a recovery plan requiring additional shortfall contributions from the Company is not needed.

The importance of the Company's support

The success of the Plan relies on the support of the Company because:

- the Company pays the cost of running the Plan on an annual basis
- the funding level can fluctuate and if there is a shortfall, the Company will usually need to pay more money into the Plan
- the target funding level may not turn out to be enough so the Company will need to put more money into the Plan.

Other information we need to tell you

As required by law, we can confirm that there have not been any payments to the Company out of Plan funds since the last funding statement, nor has the Pensions Regulator needed to use any of its powers in relation to the funding of our Plan or the benefits provided by it.

What would happen if the Plan were to wind up?

In the unlikely event that the Plan were to wind up, members' benefits would be secured by buying insurance policies with an insurance company. As at 1 January 2018, there would have been a shortfall on this basis of £285 million (£258 million as at 1 January 2019). These are shortfalls, rather than the surplus figures shown in the table on page 21, reflecting the fact that insurers must take a more cautious view of the future and need to make a profit. We've included this information because we're required to do so by law – it doesn't imply that the Company intends to wind up the Plan.

Is my pension protected?

The Pension Protection Fund (PPF) provides compensation to members whose pension scheme is being wound up with insufficient assets. Broadly, this would be 90% of benefits for members who have not yet retired and 100% for anyone who is over normal retirement age. Future increases to pensions are also at a lower level in the PPF.

As the Plan's assets at 1 January 2019 are likely to have covered the liabilities at higher levels than PPF compensation but were lower than the estimated cost of securing benefits with an insurer, the Plan would probably not have qualified for entry to the PPF had the Company become insolvent. In this case, members would have received more than the PPF compensation. Further information and guidance are available on the PPF's website at www.ppf.co.uk.
